

Aircraft Search and Acquisition Services

For over 40 years as commercial aviation advisors and hundreds of successful projects, CCI is a recognized leader in the commercial aviation business. Our expertise, 40+ years of experience, and diverse skills save aircraft purchasers money, time and avoid the pitfalls that can accompany aircraft selection, inspection and purchase. In today's environment we are all aware that these are new and challenging times. This is especially true when it comes to air transportation for commercial, cargo or private travel. The acquisition of a commercial aircraft is complex and can be confusing in finding the right aircraft, controlling costs, managing the pitfalls of an aircraft acquisition and integrating into your existing fleet. CCI's advisory services are comprehensive and can successfully assist you in accomplishing your aviation objectives. You will find CCI's professional experience, proven expertise and worldwide network and resources will make the difference in answering your initial questions and guiding you to the proper next step.

Acquiring an aircraft and then integrating into your existing fleet or introducing a new model to your fleet can require complicated decisions and CCI's expertise and diverse skills will significantly benefit you in integrating an additional aircraft or introducing a new model to your flight operations.

Contact Dennis A. Blackburn, CCI's President and Founder at +1.832.647.7581 with any questions or to hear what CCI can offer to achieve all your aviation search and acquisition objections.